About Guest Lecture:

ANJU KHERA Ma'am given guidance of Career Achievement Through Meditation.

As per the guidance of Anju Khers Ma'am, It's really important to have self-esteem, we hear that a lot, and we might believe it, but that doesn't mean it's easy to do. Sometimes when we try to believe in ourselves, dark clouds of doubt or even self-loathing gather. Sure, it's possible to fake confidence, but what is the trick to building genuine self-esteem?

Right now, right here, your true nature is wonderful, pure, and perfect. This is true regardless of what kind of person you are, what social class or categories you might fit into, what gender or race you identify with, where on the map you come from, or what your past history consists of.

But merely being told that this is the case is not enough, of course. To build self-esteem, you need to know what the good qualities within you actually are. And there are so many of them! To start with, you have wisdom, love, and compassion. You have knowledge, skills, and powers. Some of these capabilities you're aware of, some of these you take for granted, and some you're not conscious of. In all probability, you don't have a realistic sense of how truly capable you are.

It was an amazing experience with the owner of the Swiss bakes. He has struggled lot during initial phase of the business. He has implemented new strategy to attract the customers. Swiss bakes have given charging facilities for the customers that means customers can do their official work with laptop. And the main things which makes the Swiss Bakes unique than other is that no Questions will be ask to customers for how many times he has seating in the store without given orders.
